A Scream Goes Through The House What Literature Teaches Us About Life
a scream goes through the house what literature teaches us
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime, his hands well washed and dry. He has a good appetite and a large appetite for adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly asks Tom what went well about his adventures. Tom tells her about a school that he has skipped and friends that he has made. Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out of the house in a good humor, as a bright and cheerful. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom and the new arrival catch the eye of two boys. Aunt Polly is worried and instructs Tom to "never lose sight of your aunt.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom passes by, and Tom tries to get Tom to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of marriage. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases Tom off, leaving Tom alone with his thoughts.

Tom comes home at suppertime. His school teacher, Mr. Hitchcock, has told Aunt Polly that Tom has skipped school that afternoon and went on some kind of ‘nonsense.’ Tom tells his Aunt that they have been playing cricket in the river, but Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom has sworn the short himself to disguise his crime. Tom goes out of the house into the kitchen, and begins to whistle. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom meets Ben Rogers, his new acquaintance and eventual rival. Tom and Ben eventually compose new lines to the song and eventually chases the newcomer all the way home.
