Geriatric Neuropsychology Assessment And Intervention
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s misconduct and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime to find his uncle, Mr. Sid, talking to the minister. Mr. Sid has just been skipping school that afternoon and now receives a thrashing. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom and his friend Huckleberry Finn run into a man who is wanted by the law. Tom is so excited that he almost gives the man away, but Sid, Tom’s half-brother, quickly intervenes and helps Tom escape.

Tom gets out of the house in time for dinner, and Aunt Polly is satisfied. However, Tom and the new arrival are inevitably discovered, and eventually, the news comes all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly makes Tom out to whiten his face. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of trade. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his taffy.

Tom comes home at suppertime, and Aunt Polly asks him if he has been skipping school that afternoon and what mischief he has been up to. Tom tells her that he has been playing with a kite and that his kite is still way up in the air, but that he will bring it down. Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out of the house to get his kite. He sees a man lying on the street and decides to help him. The man turns out to be a drunken man who is being beaten up by a group of men. Tom helps the man and gets into a fight with the men. He finally succeeds in helping the man and eventually chases the newcomers all the way home.
