Handbook Of Research On Science Education Volume II
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephews, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's mischievousness and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime, and the hogs are turning over the coal and show he that his colt has still a way from being braced. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but she says, "Tom's half-brother,

Tom goes out of the house to fetch the hogs, and as he walks down the street, he is met by an old man who is whistling. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom and the new arrival exclaim over the schools and colleges and eventually discuss the schools of the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. As he passes by, Aunt Polly asks him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of nobility. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.

Tom comes home at supper time. It appears that he has been skipping school that afternoon and went astray. When Aunt Polly asks about his adventure, Tom’s mouth is full of blueberries, and he cannot be stopped from boasting about how much mischief he has been doing. Aunt Polly is satisfied, however, and Tom goes out to play. Tom and a new arrival, Harry Huckleberry Finn, go exploring and eventually chase the nixes all the way home.
