Promising Practices In 21st Century Music Teacher Education
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper. As usual, he has a tale about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly tells Tom that he had been skipped school that morning and eaten breakfast in bed and shows him that his clothes are still covered with jam. Tom’s half-brother, Ben, is sound asleep in the back. Tom has sworn the boy to secrecy and plans to disguise him as a baby. Tom tells Aunt Polly that he and Ben will be “whitewashing” the fence while Tom and Ben’s friend Joe Douglas are out of town.

Tom and the new arrival close up on the fence. Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom and Ben begin whitewashing. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, they eventually clean the fence, and Tom’s punishment is over.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. His pages try, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “wheezy alley,” a kind of orange. His page agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his任务.
